

I have grave concerns reference broadband over powerline. As I understand BPL with cause harmful interference with communication in the HF band spectrum. My question is, knowing this, why would such a system be implemented. Money ?? In my opinion, the power companies now do a very poor job of keeping their powerlines free from causing any type of interference, why add to the now existing problem. The line noise in my city is at a horrendous level now.

Don Jennings